

MICHIGAN GUARD DRINGS TRUCKS

Men From 'Fordville' Have Many Motors; Massachusetts Getting Settled.

The Michigan guardmen brought with them a full equipment of army wagons, but on arrival at Camp Cotton they found that a full company of army trucks had been allotted to the troops from the Wolverine state.

Michigan started cleaning off the camp grounds at the northwest corner of Camp Cotton, where Torrence street crosses the railroad tracks, early on Wednesday morning and the camp had taken on an orderly appearance early in the afternoon, though the air was full of dust as the men grubbed, graded, weeded, cactus and weeds from the camp site. Big scrapers were used to level the grounds.

40 Are Sick.
The Michigan boys had rather a hard trip and over 40 men were reported on the sick list on arrival here. It is expected that when the boys get settled in camp their condition will improve. When the big four-wheel drive trucks were turned over to the drivers with the Michigan guardmen, the drivers immediately started to find and too deep for the trucks to pull through or mud holes which would bog them. They had some tank on their hand, but the majority of drivers found, before the afternoon was over, that nature still has it on science.

Truck Is Stuck.
One of the big trucks was headed toward the Michigan infantry camp and the driver decided that a stagnant pool along the road was an ideal test hole. It was. He was finally towed out. A couple of other trucks were sent into a stagnant back of the International brickyard. And then the drivers discovered that loose sand is a mile-high poor foundation for traction, but they sure did make that sand fly.

Flooring Tents.
The Massachusetts troops, adjoining the Michigan boys, are preparing for a lengthy stay. The camp streets are being graded. The officers' quarters have all been floored and side walls built on the same plan as has been followed by the regulars at Camp Cotton. The canteens are the busiest spots in camp. The water pipes are laid close to the surface of the ground and the soldiers long for something cold to drink. "Pop" is in great demand. At the soft drink canteen of the Eighth Massachusetts, over 250 soft drinks were sold in an hour on Wednesday afternoon.

Recreational Canteens.
The big buildings which are to house the regimental canteens for the Bay state troops are now in process of erection, as are a couple of smaller ones. It is evident that the Massachusetts boys are preparing to stay a few months.

The Massachusetts troops are stationed southeast of the canal and close to the International line, the southern limit of the El Paso stockyards.

Maj. Gen. Clements, Militiaman, Is Highest Paid Border Officer

Major general Charles M. Clements, commanding the Pennsylvania division of troops, for which a new camp is being established some miles north of Fort Bliss, is the highest salaried officer of the El Paso military district. His pay is $46,657 per month, which is $16,657 more than Brig. Gen. George Bell, Jr., received in his envelope from the War Department.

The many colonels, regular and state, are paid $12,225 monthly. While the lieutenant colonels get $29,167. Majors draw $1200; captains, $200; first lieutenants, $754.47; and second lieutenants, $714.57.

Passing the men who hold the commissions and are privileged to obtain from the war department the odd cents as well as the large stipends for their efforts in maintaining the status quo along the border, the following are the monthly ratings of the enlisted men, who may at home in the east be accustomed to exacting their pennies, but who are rapidly growing accustomed to the southwestern method of "seven money."

First sergeant, $45; quartermaster sergeant, $28; corporal, $20; private, $15. National guard soldiers receive the same pay as regulars while in federal service. Officers get allowances for quarters and mounts; officers receive an allowance of $10 per month for one horse and $16.47 a month for two horses. Enlisted men are paid 20 percent extra and double time for foreign service.

MORE THAN 3000 RECRUITS READY FOR MESS HOUSE SENT

Will Be Sent to Join Massachusetts Regiments on Border Duty.

BOSTON, MASS., July 13.—Between 3000 and 4000 additional Bay State recruits, now enrolled and equipped at Camp Whitney, at Framingham, may be sent forward to their commands along the Mexican border next week.

Lieut. Oliver Foster, troop B, first Massachusetts cavalry, reached Boston last night from France, where he has served with the American ambulance. He will report for duty tomorrow and probably will be sent to join his command at once. Harry Adamson, private in the second Massachusetts cavalry, also an ambulance driver in France, came across with him.

Sends $640 for Company M Mess House.
Major O'Donnell, of Lowell, today sent a check of $640 to Lieut. Christian, of company M, ninth regiment, for the purchase of a mess house for the company.

Fifty-three Called Before Jury.
Haverhill was set aside last night when a batch of 53 summonses to appear before the Salem grand jury to testify on the famous Lynden riot were served on prominent citizens. Nearly as many more will be served today. Among the summonses was one for Maj. Harry B. Campbell of the eighth regiment now in Texas.

12 Charged With Illegal Stilling.
Today 12 prominent New Bedford fishermen were summoned to court on warrants charging illegal sales of liquor, sworn out by agents of the Watch and Ward society. They were bailed in $500 each.

Montpelier Has Celebration.
The celebration of Vermont's 125th anniversary as a state was attended by 5000 persons at Montpelier. John Barrett, head of the Pan-American union, Gov. McCall, of Massachusetts and Admiral Peary were among the speakers. A banquet was the night feature. Editor

SENDING BOOKS TO PENN. BOYS APPROACH WILL HELP FAMILIES

Appeal of Paper Brings Great Dray Loads of Books for Boys on Border.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 13.—A generous response to the appeal for books for national guardmen serving on the Mexican border, printed in the Public Ledger, was made by many public spirited Philadelphians. From early morning until late last night scores of books, which have perhaps "grown old in the service," were received at the Public Ledger. Many were brought personally, although not a few came by mail or parcel post. They will be shipped immediately to the soldiers on the border. Every day a Ledger motor truck will carry the gifts in packing boxes to the railroad station.

1200 Boys at Camp Washington.
A taste of real military discipline is being obtained by some 1200 boys who are taking the course in war training for boys between 13 and 17 years old, established by the war department at Camp Washington, on Plum Island, near the eastern end of Long Island sound.

This camp is intended to perform the same service for the younger boys that the Plattsburg camp does for the older brothers and their fathers. That Camp Washington boasts a great deal of military spirit and some Provisions for Taking care of families of employees of the Pennsylvania railroad guard now on duty were made today by the directors of the railroad company. The directors voted to appropriate a sum, not to exceed $100,000 for the present, which is to be expended for the relief of the families and dependents of employees who have been enlisted in the army or navy, through membership in the national guard or otherwise.

Canoe Overturns Two Drown.
W. M. Bernard, Reading, a fireman on the Pennsylvania railroad, and H. E. McKinley, Porterville, were drowned when their canoe overturned in the Schuylkill river, near Norristown. Three other men, one of whom admitted that he was partly responsible for the overturning of the canoe, and was arrested, reached safety with difficulty.

Moan Makes Woman Steal.
Mrs. Annie Weynsberg, 53 years old, 1762 Grass avenue, who was arrested last night on the charge of shoplifting in Market street stores, was discharged by magistrate McElwain in the Central station today, after her counsel asserted that the moon had affected her mind. According to the attorney, every year at this time the moon affects the woman's mind and makes her a kleptomaniac.

Heat Kills Five.
Heat wave struck this city yesterday, causing five deaths and five prostrations and no relief is promised by the forecast. Those dead are: George Day, 35 years old, of 309 East Girard avenue; Esther Douglas, three months old, of 1224 Ellsworth street; Albert Lottier, 322 South Fifth street; John Pendergast, 3114 North Tenth street; and Charles Roth, 1410 Howard street.

Leaders to Recommend Appointees.
Thirty-two public and organizational leaders allied with the Vars faction and 18 Penrose-McNichol leaders, including the wards where leaders are still to be named, will be recognized by mayor Smith and municipal departmental heads in the future division of patronage and places under the city government.

This final division has been decided upon after many conferences in the last few days at the city hall and in the future appointments will not be made until the leaders chosen by the mayor have been consulted or given an opportunity to submit men for places. The men obtaining provisional appointments in this way will have to pass civil service tests before their names go on the city payroll.

To Restrict Auto Parking.
Restriction on the parking of autos in the central section of the city at night will be removed from the ordinance now before council, to regulate motorcar traffic. Mayor Smith made an announcement to that effect when a committee of business men, headed by E. J. Barlet, called at his office to complain against the bill in its present form.

Orangemen Celebrate Boyne Battle.
Orangemen of two factions celebrated the 225th anniversary of the battle of the Boyne, Philadelphia members of the grand lodge of Pennsylvania Loyal Orange Institution, numbering more than 2000, marched from Broad and Green streets to Point Breeze park. The other branch, known as the Loyal Orange Institution of the United States, formed in line at Broad and Diamond and marched to Woodside park. Members of lodges from Wilmington, Del., Camden and Trenton participated in both parades.

PENN. GUINNERS TO MOVE CAMP

Just When Artillerymen Get Settled Are Ordered to New Division Camp.

The First Pennsylvania field artillery is getting comfortably established in camp, but will soon have to move into the new camp on the mesa beyond Fort Bliss.

The boys tell of an amusing exchange of courtesies as they passed Fort Hancock on their way here. Some inspiration must have told the bugler at the army camp that the militiamen on the train were hungry; at any rate, he blew "mess call." Trumpeter Corp. Reist of battery E answered with the call "double time." The cavalry bugler came back with "pay day," which suggestion Reist retorted with "Hail, hail, the gang's all here."

Stable Sergeant J. R. McCord came to El Paso Wednesday to see the city, and on his return was made the victim of a practical joke. He was told that one battery had been ordered out for immediate service and that Sergeant W. G. Rennie, ("Carranza") had requisitioned his horse and buggy. He was in the battery so far. "Yes, and if that is so there will be an issue of broken laws around here," he growled and instantly started on the hunt for Sergeant Rennie. He says he was the most relieved man in camp when he found that his pet horse was not gone.

Artillery Horse Is Wise.
"An artillery horse has to know a lot," says Sergeant McCord, "and is much harder to break in than a cavalry horse. He must learn to trot and gallop in time with the other five horses of his piece, and if one lies down the other five refuse to do their duty. He has to be a saddle horse and a dray horse at the same time, while a cavalry horse has nothing to pull." Sergeant McCord is anxious to see his regiment issued a full complement of horses, so that they can be well broken in for active service.

Top Sergeant Harry Bradley, of battery E, is the only man in camp except quartermaster Hugh Baxter, who has a complete field equipment, and he is regarded suspiciously by his companions who do not believe he acquired his outfit by legitimate means.

Search for Snake.
Pvt. John Hooch spends half an hour every morning searching his tent for snakes and centipedes, and he has an hour every morning hunting his shirt and shoes which have a habit of disappearing while he sleeps.

Pvt. Frank V. McCoy has the reputation of being the best soldier in the battery. He has a sore finger nail which he nurses so carefully that he has not done a stroke of work so far. Corp. Dwight L. Bardeen, a clerk of Wilkesburg, is the handsome man and heartbreaker of the battery. He has been much worried lately because he only receives one letter a day from back home, whereas he faithfully writes two letters every day to his "aunt" he claims.

The Official Beauty Doctor.
Sergeant C. S. Kor is the official doctor, beauty doctor and manicurist of battery E. First Sergeant Harry Bradley is obliged to deprive him of his razor and powder puffs every morning to keep him from being half an hour late answering reveille.

Pvt. Carl Muts has been given his choice between having his hair clipped or a ducking in the nearest ditch. The boys want to know why Lieut.

R. I. CAVALRY MISSES SIGHTS

Is Shunted Into Freight Yard at Chicago and Cannot See Windy City.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 13.—The Rhode Island squadron of cavalry has reached Kansas City. The men were greatly disappointed at Chicago, failing to get sleeping cars and also being robbed of a chance to see the big city, as a result of their train being shunted into freight yards, miles away from the business center. Private Bassett, of troop A, was left at Port Sheridan hospital at Chicago, with malaria.

Fighting Oklahoma Heat.
Ambulance company No. 1 last night passed through Wynoka, Okla. The men are finding the intense heat a pretty hard proposition, but are all pretty well. That Rhode Island was the only state to respond to the president's call with its various units up to full strength, was received with great satisfaction and pride by military

William Miller was his spare all the way on the train from Pittsburgh, when the regiment had no horses; also why he was shunted from the train so many times to take kodak pictures of pretty girls, and was angry when the boys told the girls he was married.

Zoology Run.
Sergeant Walter L. Wilson of the Pressed Steel Car works of Pittsburgh, enjoys the distinction of being the regimental authority on zoology and entomology. He already has a collection of all manner of insects and reptiles captured since arriving at Camp Pershing. Wednesday his knowledge was brought into use when Lieut. Harry P. Plank awoke to find a scorpion on the tent wall immediately above his head and called out the whole battery to remove the menace before he would stir out of his cot.

Col. William F. McKee, Pennsylvania state senator, has been losing weight noticeably during the past few days.

Fireman-Soldier.
Capt. Robt. G. Snyder, who is also captain of Wilkesburg No. 1 fire department, sounds reveille every morning with a fire going instead of bugles. It is claimed that he does not know how to get up in the morning without sliding down a pole.

Corp. Arthur Morgan, of Kinney, Texas, is suspected of having enlisted to get a free trip home from Pittsburgh, but he is such a good soldier that he cannot get "fired." He served with the volunteers in the Philippines, eight years in the regular army, and four years in the marine corps.

Was Prison Chaplain.
Chaplain Charles M. Miller, ranking as captain, was formerly chaplain of the western penitentiary of Pennsylvania. He is very popular with the regiment. Chaplain Miller is a Methodist, but since his arrival in Texas he has sent the men to bathe so many

ARMY BANDS MAY PLAY IN TOWN

Plans Being Made for Recreation Centers for the Militia and Regulars.

With the aim of giving some entertainment to the regulars and 15,000 militiamen encamped near El Paso by establishing amusement places where there would be dancing, refreshments served and army music, the entertainment committee of the chamber of commerce, decided Wednesday afternoon to appoint a committee from the city to devise ways and means. The entertainment affairs would be open to the public as well as the soldiers.

Gen. Bell Approves.
If the idea materializes Gen. Bell has agreed to detail the army bands to play for the soldiers. It is likely such places as Cleveland square, Houston square and open places that are within easy walking distance for the soldiers could be used for having the daily entertainments.

Maj. George T. Langhorne and president R. R. Grondorf of the chamber of commerce, conferred with mayor Tom Lea Wednesday morning on the advisability of the plan. Maj. Langhorne is the originator of the idea, and is acting with the consent of Gen. Bell. "Some entertainment is needed for the soldiers to maintain the discipline," said Maj. Langhorne. The mayor outlined a plan that he said he had established in Manila in 1908. It has been operated since then with success.

May Have Field Day.
J. A. Krikauer suggested that a field day center be held during the all congress in El Paso and other affairs of entertainment were suggested. An introduction committee among the soldiers was also suggested so that the people of El Paso could come in closer touch with the fighting men, whom they rub elbows every day.

The following attended the meeting: Col. George T. Langhorne, R. R. Grondorf, J. A. Krikauer, J. M. O'Connell, Walter Long and R. E. Hines.

--Backache? --Rheumatism? --Run-down?

Those of us who are past middle age are prone to eat too much meat and in consequence develop lime-salts in the arteries, veins and joints. We suffer from twinges of rheumatism or lumbago, sometimes from gout, swollen hands or feet. There is no longer the slightest need of this, however, as the new prescription, "Anuric," is bound to give immediate results as it is many times more potent than lithia, in ridding the impoverished blood of its poison by way of the kidneys. It can be obtained at almost any drug store, by simply asking for "Anuric" for kidneys or backache. It will overcome any conditions as rheumatism, dropsy, swellings, cold extremities, scalding and burning urine and sleeplessness due to constant urinating from 1900 at night—Advertisement.

Volume Rises: Price Drops Quality Stands

The Quality Fulcrum

Firestone Tires

—have built up one of the most gigantic industries of a gigantic time on this bedrock principle of QUALITY. Steadily—by the support of the motoring public—the volume of Firestone sales has gone up—up. Note this: A record of 257 per cent increase in sales for the five years since we moved into our new, enormous factory—

$7,462,581.17 in 1910—$25,187,884.33 in 1915

Add to this unprecedented growth the increase of 38% so far for our 1916 fiscal year! This, automatically, brings the cost down—down.

Look again at the illustration—note basic fact of Firestone success—QUALITY.

Emphatically, the Firestone Organization must continue to deserve the enormous patronage of those who KNOW.

You get the benefit of this patronage in the low Firestone prices, made possible by volume and efficiency.
